A Great Place to Learn- 75 years and still growing strong

Lincoln High School

The Lincoln statue stands proud at the corner of Willis and Whitaker.

The south face of the original Lincoln Consolidated School circa 1938. This building is now Brick Elementary. Five more buildings have been added to the district, with a new middle school about to be constructed.

Dressed in 1920's era outfits, the senior class officers and sponsors celebrate Lincoln's 75th anniversary.

Lincoln steps into the new millennium, putting

One FOOT in Front of the Other

The 1999-2000 school year promised to be one of growth, change and celebration. As Lincoln Schools prepared for Y2K and the leap from one monumental century to another, we also stepped back in time to reflect on, and embrace, the past. During the 1999 Homecoming festivities, Lincoln saluted 75 years of quality education as a consolidated district. Each of the 75 feet on the cover symbolize one year of Lincoln moving forward.

In addition to the 75th anniversary, Lincoln also celebrated growth and prosperity. As a result of a passed bond, the ground for the new middle school was broken, and the high school smiled at the future plans to spill into the current, modern middle school to accommodate increased enrollment from growing neighborhoods.

The millennial change is especially distinctive for this year's seniors - the class of '00. The first graduating class of the century has the immense responsibility of leading the rest of us into the 21st century - setting the pace by putting "one foot in front of the other" in its journey from past to present and on into the future.

Happy Birthday to us! Seniors Meghann McParlan, Desiree King and Cassie Bake present a cake to Lincoln Schools.

Superintendent Al Widner speaks at Lincoln's anniversary celebration held at Brick Elementary, the district's first building.

The junior float, which tied for 1st place, reminds us to remember the past even as we look toward the future. Stephanie Peterson '01 walks with the float in the parade.

Student Life:

Cuttin' LOOSE

Junior Kelly Stange turns from her work on the computer, just for a second, to pose for the camera.

Junior Chad Harwood shows his school spirit with a blue and white painted face. Students love to get involved in school activities, and have a blast doing so.

Cheese! Junior Gail Stec smiles for a quick photo in Math class where she's doing her best to work hard and make the grade. Keep up the good work!

Students show off their crazy personalities with their wacky, colorful toe socks. Can you guess whose feet these are?

The juniors at Lincoln really got involved! Showing pride in our school, they all wore orange as a class color. Here, they pose for a quick picture, a memory that will last a lifetime.

Sophomores Lauren Mabie, Jeannette Brown, Jessica Varney and Joanna Withrow get comfortable in their pajamas and slippers.

Mrs. Dixon gives directions to Student Council President, Heidi Heiss '02, for the next events that are to take place at the Homecoming pep assembly. It appeared that everyone who attended had fun and the new games that were introduced were a success with the students.

Sophomores Erin Allen and Heidi Heiss collect canned goods for the Student Council canned food drive.

By Tara Penird '00

Ever gone to a dance and wondered who provided all the goodies like punch and cookies? Student Council members did a great job hosting events such as both the Homecoming and Cominghome dances, as well as pep assemblies.

These guys have done it all. This group not only does good deeds for our school, but for others as well, with charity events like the canned food drive for the hungry and "toys for tots", which provides toys for needy children at Christmastime.

Mrs. Gonzales was very successful working with the members during her first year as sponsor.

Student Council has paid their dues to prove they make a difference to our community and school.

Senior Carolyn Hunt helps put together the arch and other decorations for the Cominghome dance.

They always said that two heads are better than one! Juniors Ky Allen and Connie Fullerton put pen to paper to cast their votes for the Cominghome Court king.

Lincoln Celebrates 75th Year

Hey Abe! Junior Steven Fifield displays his spirit by dressing as Abraham Lincoln.

By Kelly Stange '01

Spirit week festivities came to a close with the homecoming parade before the big game against Saline. Current athletes, clubs, class floats, the Homecoming Court, the marching band, as well as former homecoming queens returning as guests, joined in the parade.

Lincoln celebrated its 75th year as the first Consolidated District in the United States. Photos dating as far back as 1926-1927 were on display in the high school cafeteria, showing the many changes that Lincoln has undergone.

The evening was capped with a 20 minute fireworks display. A "birthday" celebration was held the following afternoon.

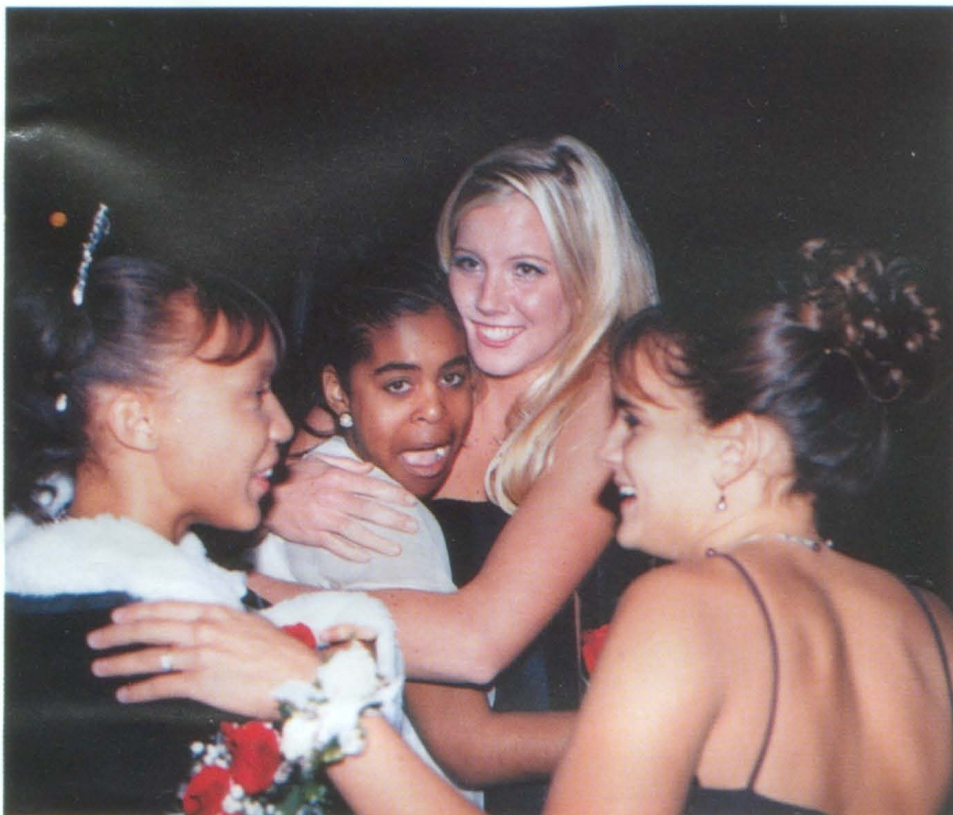

Roaring into the future! The senior class float showed figures from the past racing into the future. The float also featured Abraham Lincoln speeding in an old jalopy car, "smashing the Saline Hornets" and getting ready for the Homecoming game. This float tied for first place with the junior class float.

And the Crown Goes To...

Senior Court members embrace in excitement. Smiles of joy along with a few tears are shared between Toya Roberson, Anika Wilborn, Meghann McParlan and Christina Hasse. This will be a night each of these girls will remember forever!

Senior Toya Roberson dazzles the camera with her beauty after she has been crowned our '99 Queen.

By Melissa Baker '00

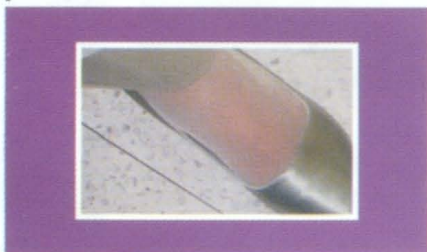

After 75 years of tradition, the Homecoming Court circled the track once more during halftime of the football game. Dressed in their best, the girls were all anxious to hear who our Queen would be. With anticipation rising, Mr. Ross' voice booms over the speakers that our 1999 Homecoming Queen is...Toya Roberson. Hugs and kisses were passed while the cameras flashed. This will be a lasting memory for each and every person.

A Week Full of Spirit Ends with Pep

Seniors show their spirit by having the loudest cheer at the pep assembly. The class of 2000 not only won the pep assembly, but every day in spirit week, as well as first place for their 1920's float. The seniors worked very hard and came out on top.

By Tara Penird '00

Many students agree that the pep rally this year was awesome. Sophomore Heidi Heiss, the coordinator of it all, said, "I think that the pep rally went very well this year. It was very organized, we (student council) prepared for it a month and a half ahead of time."

One of the new games added to the pep rally this year was "bubble whip". A piece of gum is buried in the bottom of a bowl of whipped cream and the contestant must put his or her face in the bowl, find the gum, chew it, and blow a bubble, all while another student holds the bowl from behind. The first to do this is the winner. Mrs. Gonzalez, student council sponsor, said "This event will be used again next year."

Games such as the the orange pass, tug of war, relay races, as well as the class cheer will always be tradition and are enjoyed not only by the contestants but the audience as well.

The successful pep rally concluded a week of fun, pride and most of all SPIRIT!

Cheerleaders Janet Bumgardner '02, Melanie Lay '03, Karen DeGryse '02, Jill Kmet '02 and Cindy Whittenberg '03 excite the crowd with their spirit and cheers at the pep assembly.

Senior Patrick Keen is having a groovy time on "Blast from the Past day" of spirit week.

Molly Adcock '01, Jess Alper '01, Eze Enriquez '01 and Kelly McCue '01, cheer on the junior class.

Missy Landry '01, Jill Pluciniczak '01, Nick Mourer '00, and Tara Penird '00 are taking a trip back in time on "Blast from the Past day".

How would you like to roll out of bed Monday morning with just enough time to get to school, and not worry about your hair or changing out of those comfy jammies?

Welcome to spirit week, which kicked off with pajama day on Monday. Students came into school wearing PJ's and slippers. On Tuesday each class had their own color. Seniors wore yellow, juniors had on orange sophomores displayed purple and freshman donned red. Wednesday couldn't get much wackier, with wacky hair, socks, hats and clothes. Students walked down the hallways looking the crazier the better, wearing polka dots with plaids. "Blast from the Past" day on Thursday was, well, a blast! "It was fun to walkdown the hallways and see the different clothing styles," said Alana Mellinger '01.

On Friday we got out the blue 'n gray and got ready to show school spirit at the football game. The seniors took spirit week by a landslide!

"Pajama Party!" Jill Pluciniczak '01, Jill Pinter '01, Jess Alper '01, Molly Adcock '01, Melissa Smither '00, Meghann McParlan '00 and Adam Stolt '00, have fun learning in their pj's.

Students Against Drunk Driving continues to promise not to drink or ride with someone who has been drinking or using drugs. They also promise to give great effort to work with peers who may be having difficulty with these issues.

This year, SADD put on a mock crash. Juniors Stephanie Peterson and Lonnie Scott, along with seniors Todd Archer and Becky Whittenberg were volunteers for the realistic demonstration. The crash showed students the result of drinking and driving, which made students think twice about drinking and driving on prom night. "We do what we can to get students to think safe on prom night," said senior president Kim Griffis.

While they were in America, the exchange students stayed with a Lincoln student. They followed the student that they were staying with to each of his or her classes.

The LHS students and their new friends went on many trips. Some of the places they saw included Mackinac Island, Chicago, Cedar Point, Detroit, and the Toledo Zoo. "We had a sleep-over at Sarah Wilbur's house, we had a blast," said Staci Schubert '01

Opportunities like this create memories and friendships that last a lifetime.

"...and they lived happily ever after"! Cinderella, portrayed by sophomore Sara Wachtmann, and the Prince, portrayed by senior Mike Puryear, stand together as husband and wife, amongst all the townspeople, after their fairy tale wedding. There is a lot that goes into a drama production. From set construction to costumes to make-up to casting- all together it's about a two month process until preparations for a performance are complete.

Set constructors labor on the set, with help from cast, parents and Mr. Manning, who teaches art. There is an endless search for costumes- some are made, some rented and some are left over from other productions. Publicity is also important.

The creation and printing of flyers and ad sales are the responsibilities of the Publicity Department. "Stage" make-up is applied for the performance. Every detail and movement is carefully planned. Finally, it's show time!

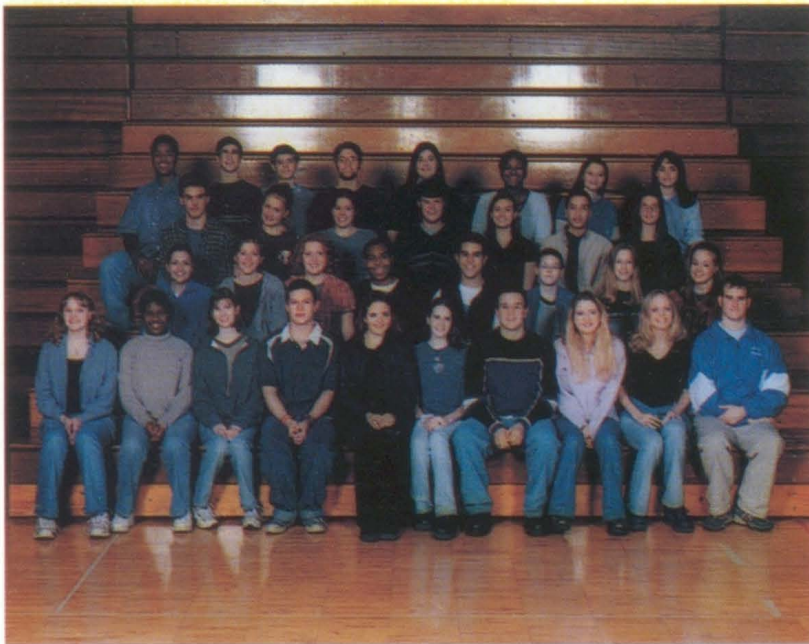

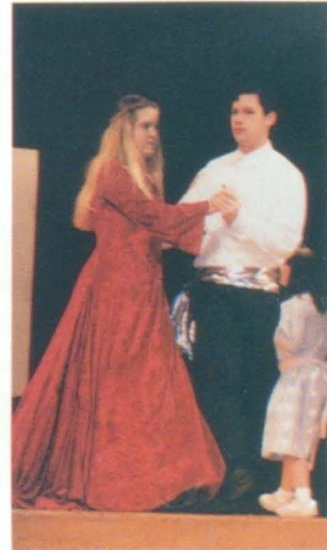

The fall musical was "Cinderella", and what a success! The Drama Dept. also had a One-Act Play competition, put on a children's show, sponsored a talent show and had the spring play "David and Lisa". What a year!

Junior Lonnie Scott and senior Sheena McDougall play the roles of the King and Queen. To find a wife for their son, the King and Queen present a ball for their son to meet every woman in the kingdom.

Cinderella, played by sophomore Erin Allen, waits and dreams of the day her prince charming will come to her.

At the ball, Juniors Kevin Brunell and Stephanie Peterson dance, to get a glimpse of the prince.

This year's United Student Organization (USO) has accomplished many tasks. The club started off with a Hispanic American History and a Native American History program for the elementary schools to educate the youth on the many cultures that make up our country.

The USO also has an annual African American History program, which is one of the biggest presentations of the year. Another big show took place with the NAACP freedom fund dinner, which was held at the Marriott Hotel in late November.

The USO has other programs like the gospel concert, the steps team, the dance team and ensemble, which combine for performances throughout the year.

Jobs-we all need them, none of us want them and some of us have them. It is hard to pull off going to school for seven hours, sports practices, and still making time for homework. Also, when you have a job you make a lot of sacrifices, like not hanging out with your friends or partying. But in order to do these things, you need money, which means you need a job.

Popular places to work these days are McDonalds, Showcase Cinemas, and MediaPlay. "I like my co-workers," said Cassie Bake '00. But jobs aren't all in fun. Many students look forward to Spirit Week twice each year. It gives them a chance to show their school spirit.

Spirits for Cominghome were dampened this year when a forecasted snowstorm threatened festivities and closed the school on the day of the big basketball game.

The game was postponed, despite the forfeit of the so-called "snowstorm". Hall decorating went on late Thursday as scheduled.

The hall decorating competition is a big part of spirit week. Many students and staff put in extra hours to get together to make their hallway look the best.

The decorations were left up a bit longer than usual so students could see them Monday. In keeping with the cartoon theme: freshmen had Disney, sophomores had Hanna Barbera, juniors had Comic Strips and seniors had Looney Tunes.

Hard work and lots of spirit nabbed a junior win.

The return of Cominghome festivities were welcomed back, after being replaced by Winterfest last year. It also brought out the spirit in the students. Even when the snow came and the assembly was postponed, students from all classes came together to show their spirit and skill.

This year's pep assembly included the tug-o-war, the orange pass, a basketball shootout and as always, the class cheer contest. The festivities were run by student council and directed by Heidi Heiss '02.

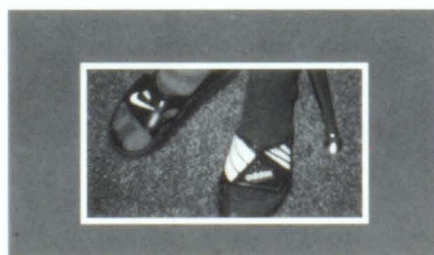

This year's much-earned spirit week trophy was taken home by the winning junior class. All the classes showed that even without a win, they can still have fun.

Students enjoy getting dressed up for the dance. Many of them go out to eat before or after the dance.

Student Council hosted the dance. They put forth a great deal of effort to make it memorable evening for all.

The Cominghome dance was almost canceled due to a forecasted snow storm. Students were happy about the snow day they had the day before, but worried the dance would not go on. Fortunately, the forecast was wrong, and students danced away the night.

Students Look Forward to the Fun of RIF

Aaron Williams '00 and Stanley Roberson '01 flash thier fun finds at RIF. Here, students can choose from a wide variety of books, from John Grisham novels to fashion magazines. Williams went for the Lowrider magazine, while Roberson chose a book more to his athletic preference, a book about the NBA.

Ruth Dunstan '02 takes time to read a little into a book before making her final decision. Stephen King novels are very popular at RIF.

By Dan Panzer '01

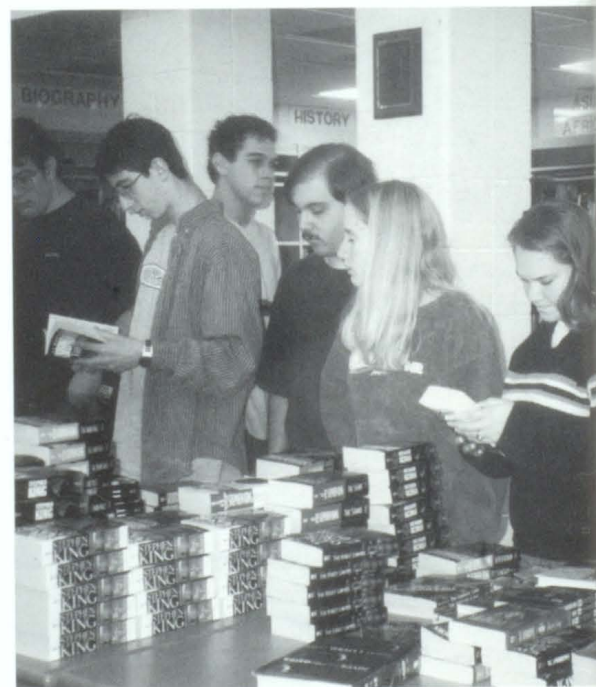

Reading is fundamental (RIF) and fun, though some high school students don't exactly enjoy reading. Or so they think.

In order to promote the joy of reading, twice each year the library funds a program called RIF which provides every student in the school a choice of one free book each time. Anything free catches the students interest, so why not something educational for a change?

How does the library afford this? Donations from local businesses, $2,500 from candy sales and used books from the recycle center help the cause. By the time it is all said and done, they have over 1,000 popular titles to choose from, including magazines.

Claudette Porter '01, Russell Huff '01 and Mr. Nolan stamp students RIF books after a selection has been made.

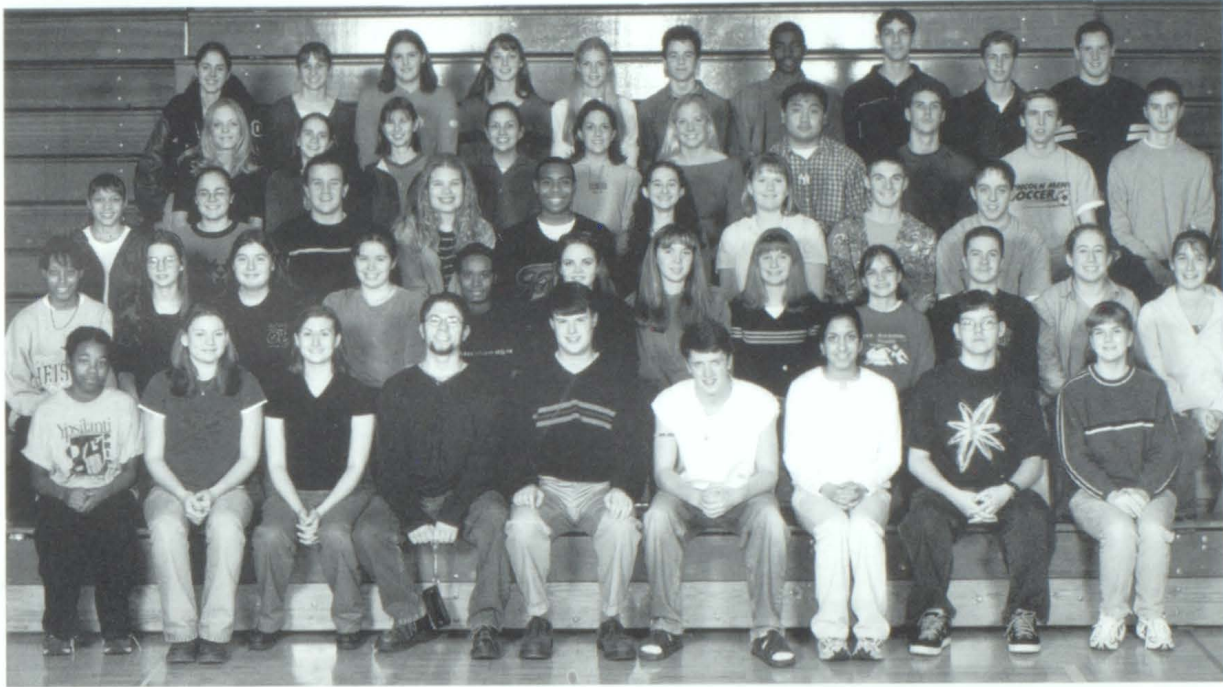

Steve Fifield '01, Eric Bredeweg '00, Jenny Archer '02 and Julie Schaller '01 choose their books from a stack of Stephen King and John Grisham books.

Being part of NHS is a big achievement and means giving back to the community. As part of the NHS, members participate in many community projects such as blood drives, meap testing and assisting the elderly. A big thanks to the NHS for all their help this year!

NHS officers Lee Buckingham '00', Ami Shah '00' and Nathan Cook '00' perform the candle lighting ceremony.

Driving in the Fast Lane

Some of the students get lucky enough to drive around town in their parents cars on the weekends. Kerry Edwards '01 and Chris Lavery '00 get ready to head out to a game in Kerry's dad's '98 Corvette.

By Staci Schubert '01

"Slow down"- two of the most hated words for the six months teens must drive on a permit with their parents. We all dreaded and hated it, but on that very first day you held your license, you realize, FINALLY, you're free! You finally go how fast you want, whenever you want, and wherever you want.

Kerry Edwards '01 shared her memory of her first trip around town with her new license, "I couldn't believe I was driving around in my new '99 Cavalier."

Some of us drive new cars, some drive old cars, some "hoopties" and some "pimp" rides. Either way, with your ticket to freedom in hand and driving whatever you may own, you are more than likely "lovin' every minute of it."

Missy finally got her license! Heather Arens '02 joins Missy Landry '01 on her first drive.

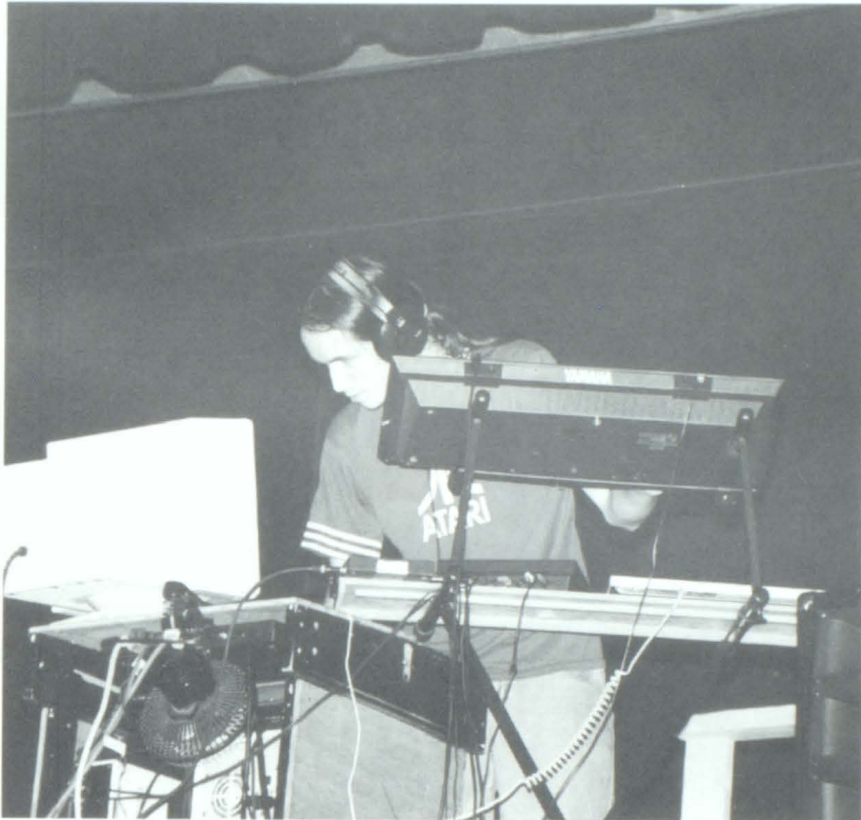

"Lets drop the top" says Amanda Thompson '01 as she gives her little red Camaro a big hug.

"Yet Another All-School Talent Show"

Clif Bratcher '00 used radiant sound and flashing lights to keep the crowd's attention during his performance. Bratcher spends his extra time performing techno for many parties outside of school.

Diversity and talent filled the room as the annual talent show took place.

The acts included a duet by Vincent Kelly and Lincoln Alumni Tara Patrick, as well as an acoustic guitar solo performance by Candace Reynolds. Other acts included a rap group called "Face Mob" and several rock bands.

The talent show is an annual event that is put on by the Drama Department. Each year the acts get better and more diverse. This year's Masters of Ceremonies were juniors Jeff Burden, Mike Zeoli and Candace Reynolds who kept the audience entertained in between acts. From jazz to heavy metal, this event can be enjoyed by all.

The three Masters of Ceremonies were Mike Zeoli '01, Candace Reynolds '01 and Jeff Burden '01. These talented Drama Club members kept the crowd entertained.

As white lights, gazebos and park benches filled the hall, students gathered in the darkened room to dance, socialize and gather in their formal attire.

This year's prom was put on by the Junior Class of 2001 with help from the class sponsors, Mrs. Briggman and Ms. Maxwell. The theme of this year's prom was "A Walk in the Park" and was held on May 13th.

The Junior class randomly drew for this year's Prom King, Queen, Prince and Princess.

There was a variety of music played at this year's prom--from Eminem's "Slim Shady" all the way to The Blood Hound Gang's "Bad Touch".

Following this year's theme, refreshments were distributed through a fountain, where many gathered to socialize and discuss the evening's events.

When the night came to a close and the hall began to empty, ladies received wine glasses and the gentleman were given mugs as they walked away with lasting memories.

Danny Douglas '01 and Lisa Burdette '01 share a dance together as Prom Prince and Princess. This year was the first year Lincoln has chosen junior royalty as a part of our Prom.

"What's happening Hot Stuff?" That look on Staci Schubert's '01 face shows just how much fun Prom can be!

Spring break- a time that every student has anxiously been waiting for.

It's a time for a few friends to get together and take an adventure to a place of no parents and no rules.

It's a time to venture south to Florida, over the ocean to the Bahamas or maybe even to the snowy peaks of Colorado. No matter how far you travel, fun follows.

For seniors, just spending time with your friends knowing that you each are going to start a new life after high school, makes this last chance for being together and sharing these final memories all the more fun!

Senior Erin Murray with sister and future brother-in-law, sit in the "dig" at the Bahama's marina habitat.

Didn't anyone ever tell you it's not polite to stick out your tongue? Freshmen Therese Willingham and Miranda Thompson strike a pose in between classes.

Pajama Party! Senior pajama buddies Danielle Moyer and Courtney Cymes take a quick study break in the LHS library during pajama day of Homecoming spirit week.

Camp Counselors take responsibility and have a blast at...

6th Grade Camp

By Heather Ringrose '02 and Anthony Dewalt '01

"Buck up, Little Campers!" Forty-eight counselors and the sixth graders from the middle school, spread out over three weeks, spent a week each at camp through the YMCA Camp Storer.

The cold weather and snow didn't stop anyone from having fun, and with all that fun, most people were able to stay warm and happy. Horseback riding, outdoor sports and indoor games, including foosball and the famous "kissing of the moose" were just some of the activities the campers and counselors enjoyed.

The campers and counselors were split into three groups. Camps this year were held from January 31 through February 4, February 7 through February 11 and February 28 through March 3.

Seniors Ransome Roquemore, Bryan Gordon, Bobby Golden and Mike Green are "male bonding".

Week 1 camp counselors take a break from the kids to gather around the fireplace for a quick snapshot.

60 degrees and sunny? Anika Wilborn '00 wishes as she dons her winter duds.

Seniors Karlallen (Buddy) Altenbernt and Nick Merkel display "the skills" while engaging in a friendly game of foosball.

6th Grade Camp Cabin Leaders

Week One, January 31-February 4: LaQuandra Cain, Kristin Harper, Desiree King, Robin LaFerney, Emily Schraf, Samantha Stokes, Stephanie Peterson, Anika Wilborn, Sarah Wilbur, Stephen Blumhardt, Jonathan Brinker, Kevin Burnell, Lee Buchingham, Karl Altenbernt, Nick Merkel, Adam Stolt, Mike Zeoli.

Week Two, February 7-11: Jeanette Alford, Cassie Bake, Jessica Collins, Carolyn Hunt, Sherry McLemore, Jenny Viers, Candace Tucher, Wendie Springer, Eric Borges, Bobby Golden, Bryan Gordon, Mike Green, Steve Napier, Lonnie Scott, Ransome Roquemore

Week Three, February 28- March 3: Molly Adock, Amanda Bush, Katy Hamlin, Lindsay Lumm, Kristin Osborne, Jill Pinter, Jill Pluciniczak, Jessica Raymond, Eniale Beachum, Jason Bolton, Colin Daniels, Adam Lucier, Brad Robinson, Kenny Williams, Jason Burt.

Senior's Efforts are Honored

The cream of Lincoln's crop. Co-Valedictorians Emily Schrag, Nathan Cook and Ryan Pratt share the spotlight with Co-Salutatorians Meghann McParlan and Lee Buckingham.

It just doesn't get any better than this! Bobby Golden beams with enthusiasm upon accepting his four-year Spanish award.

President's Education Award recipients Amanda Earnest and Rebecca Day.

The class of 2000 was honored in the traditional manner at Honors Convocation June 7. The two-hour-plus event kicked off with opening remarks by Mr. Ross and award presentations to the Valedictorians and Salutatorians.

Cords and other honors were awarded to class officers, student council members, NHS members and those who carried a 3.0 gpa or better for four years. The President's Education Awards went to those who maintained a 3.5 gpa or higher.

Numerous awards and scholarships were handed out throughout the course of the evening, including some surprises for the recipients.

Still, when did this thing get to be so long? Someone alert the Academy...

Lee Buckingham juggles his numerous awards while attempting to maneuver his crutches, creating a lasting memory of the event.

What next? Graduate Krista Guthrie ponders the inevitable question as she sits through what proved to be a long but rewarding ceremony.

Another year has come and gone, and with this new millennium, the time had come to say farewell to yet another graduating class. Twelve years, come and gone.

The class of 2000 made it through all their requirements, and now they have to decide what they want to do with their lives. Graduate Tara Penird said, "I have a lot of mixed emotions about graduating, I feel stuck between high school and college. I feel like there is nowhere that I belong."

The day of commencement was held on Friday, June 9. It was a night filled with happiness and pride, fear and tears. As the graduates stood there, they were saying goodbye to the only life they've known, preparing for their new life, full of dreams and mysteries. Many speeches were made, and many tears, of both happiness and sadness, were shed.

The night finished off with promises of keeping in touch and lasting friendships. This security was important to everyone. "I will really miss all of my friends," said graduate Jennie Minard. As the class song by Vitamin C says, "As our lives change, come whatever, we will still be...friends forever." What a great promise!

Graduates Joel Cinnamon and Robin LaFerney are already thinking about what lies ahead in the future, now that graduation is behind them.

Graduates Kristine Wielopolski and Tameika Welch pose for one last picture together. The pictures taken the night of the graduation will last a short while, the memories will last a lifetime.

Moments of Embarrassment

By Kelly Stange '01

Have you ever been caught red in the face? Totally humiliated after EVERYONE saw what just happened to you?

Some people are embarrassed more easily than others. Embarrassing moments are a part of life. Whether it be slipping on a banana peel, or a pie in the face, no one can easily escape being humiliated at least one time in their life. The students at Lincoln are no exception. Pretty much every teen has had at least one embarrassing moment. Breanne Cordle '03 recalled one incident, "I fell as I was walking down the hallway in school, that was pretty embarrassing."

David Rolls '02 told one of his embarrassing moments when he "slipped and fell off the steps" as he was getting off the bus.

Moments like these are not as traumatizing as others-- when you feel the need to change your name or move to a new town-- but everyone agrees it does take time to recover.

Top News Stories of the 90's

By Greg Mazzari '00

What are the Top Ten News Stories of the 90's?

The 1990's was a turbulent decade of stories ranging from presidential scandal to the "trial of the century". Even abnormal weather conditions made national headlines.

In a survey, students voted these the stories that topped the 90's news charts: 10- Monica Lewinsky & President Clinton 9- The O.J. Simpson trial 8- Red Wings Stanley Cup Victory 7- JFK, Jr. plane crash 6- El Nino 5- The Gulf War 4- TWA Flight 800 crash 3- Princess Diana 2- Columbine and 1- the Oklahoma bombing.

The Fredrick H. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City was bombed in April of 1996. It was said to be one of the worst cases of domestic terrorism ever in the United States.

As the graduates stood there, they were saying goodbye to the only life they've known, preparing for their new life, full of dreams and mysteries. Many speeches were made, and many tears, of both happiness and sadness, were shed.

The night finished off with promises of keeping in touch and lasting friendships. This security was important to everyone. "I will really miss all of my friends," said graduate Jennie Minard. As the class song by Vitamin C says, "As our lives change, come whatever, we will still be...friends forever." What a great promise!

Graduates Joel Cinnamon and Robin LaFerney are already thinking about what lies ahead in the future, now that graduation is behind them.

Graduates Kristine Wielopolski and Tameika Welch pose for one last picture together. The pictures taken the night of the graduation will last a short while, the memories will last a lifetime.

Moments of Embarrassment

By Kelly Stange '01

Have you ever been caught red in the face? Totally humiliated after EVERYONE saw what just happened to you?

Some people are embarrassed more easily than others. Embarrassing moments are a part of life. Whether it be slipping on a banana peel, or a pie in the face, no one can easily escape being humiliated at least one time in their life. The students at Lincoln are no exception. Pretty much every teen has had at least one embarrassing moment. Breanne Cordle '03 recalled one incident, "I fell as I was walking down the hallway in school, that was pretty embarrassing."

David Rolls '02 told one of his embarrassing moments when he "slipped and fell off the steps" as he was getting off the bus.

Moments like these are not as traumatizing as others-- when you feel the need to change your name or move to a new town-- but everyone agrees it does take time to recover.

What do you think is the top news story of the 90's ?

Top News Stories of the 90's

By Greg Mazzari '00

What are the Top Ten News Stories of the 90's?

The 1990's was a turbulent decade of stories ranging from presidential scandal to the "trial of the century". Even abnormal weather conditions made national headlines.

In a survey, students voted these the stories that

topped the 90's news charts: 10- Monica Lewinsky & President Clinton 9-The O.J. Simpson trial 8- Red Wings Stanley Cup Victory 7- JFK, Jr. plane crash 6- El Nino 5- The Gulf War 4- TWA Flight 800 crash 3- Princess Diana 2-Columbine and 1-the Oklahoma bombing.

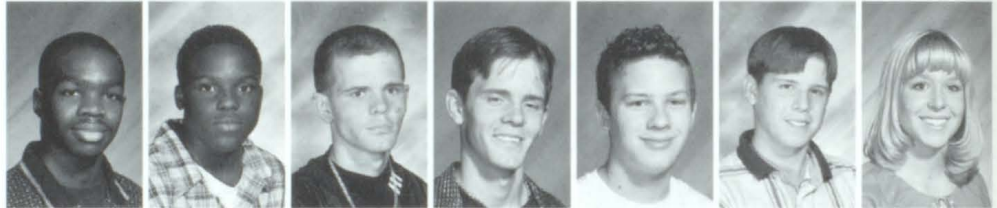

The Fredrick H. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City was bombed in April of 1996. It was said to be one of the worst cases of domestic terrorism ever in the United States.

Fresh Fears

By Missy Landry '01

"Where is room 1126?" Probably the room down the mystery corridor behind the auditorium. Finding your classes on the first day of high school can be a hard and confusing thing to do.

What about day two? This poses a similar problem for the freshmen. Just ask Lisa Slovinski '03 who said, "Finding class was the easy part. Remembering them was the difficult part." Locker location is another hurdle the freshmen must overcome. Seventy percent of freshmen were afraid of something that doesn't even exist... "Freshmen Friday" (a rumored day when upperclassmen pull pranks and do mean things to freshmen). Even as a myth, "Freshmen Friday" continues to give freshmen a scare year after year.

By the end of the first month or so, freshmen are much more comfortable with high school and don't have as many fears...or wrong directions!

Best of the 90's

By Erin Murray '00

If you asked Angelis Corey '03, Jimmy Snipes '03 or Katy Daniels '03, what their favorite song of the 90's was, they would choose Juvenile's "Back That Thang Up". These students were only a few of many who picked this popular hip-hop song in a school survey.

The favorite group or singer picked by students was Kid Rock, whose song "Bawitaba" was picked as best rap metal.

The best movie of the 90's was the Matrix according to the survey. "There were cool special effects" said Adam Thompson '01.

Ben Affleck and Jennifer Aniston were chosen as favorite actor/actress.

Kid Rock enjoys returning to his home town to get things jumpin'. Here, Joe- C, Kid Rock's main sidekick, hypes up the fans at the Palace of Auburn Hills during the the Kid Rock concert.

Even seniors fall for pranks every now and then. Senior Evan Richardson falls for the old "kick me" sign.

Pulling Pranks...

By Emily Nichols '01

Prank- A mischievous trick. Pranks are pulled all the time. They are fun to do, but when the prank is pulled on you, it's not so fun.

Everyone has heard of the common pranks, whether you trip someone in the hall, put a "kick me" sign on a friend or a classic prank phone call. They are all still funny to see or hear about.

"When we went to cross country camp, the guys put a frog in our toilets. I was about to go to the bathroom, but right before I did, the frog jumped out at me," explained junior Ky Allen.

Be careful, though, you may end up on the receiving end. "I like tapping the spray hose on the sink, so when someone turns on the water they get soaked," said freshman David Asbury.

Remember, don't get caught when you pull a prank on someone, because the person you pulled the prank on will probably pull an even better prank on you.

If you could go back to another era in time, what era would you pick?

"I would go back to the 60's, because it seemed like more fun."
Erin Tate '02

"The 70's because then I could grow a fro."
Tim Penird '02

Snipes - Teall

Time Warp!

By Tara Penird '00

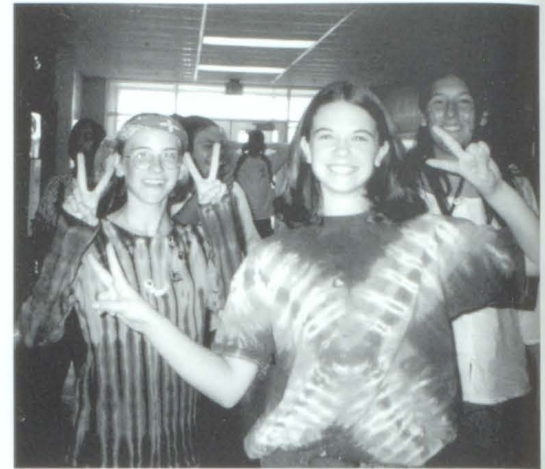

If you could go back to another era...which one would you choose? With many styles coming back from the 70's-like clogs, bell-bottoms and funky colors, one might think that would be the first decade students would choose. According to these students, that stereotype may not be true.

Jamie Edwards '02 said "The early 90's 'cause they had great music-MC Hammer and NKOTB."

Jon Leonard '02 said, "The 60's because they made some some cool cars back then."

All in all, I hope that if a person had a choice, they would stay in this era because these memories can only be made once.

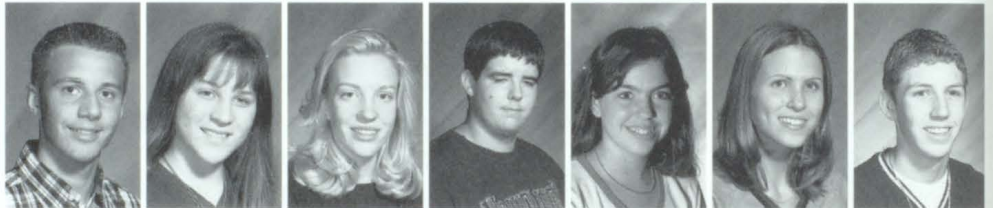

Chelsea Cutright '03, Laura Smerek '03 and Jesslyn Stocker '03 long for the "peace, love and harmony" of the 60's era and are hopeful for a hippie return in the 21st century.

Teachers Reveal “Life After School”

By Danaya Peterson '01

Students rarely imagine their teachers as “real people” outside of school, people with personal lives of their own. So exactly what is it that teachers do on their days off or vacations?

Much like the student population, teachers are very diverse individuals.

Many of Lincoln’s faculty are interested in a variety of different activities, but there seems to be a common factor- family. Seventy-five percent of those surveyed mentioned family as an important part of their leisure time.

It was not surprising to hear that Ms. Nevins, the choir instructor, spends much of her leisure time at vocal competitions and teaching voice lessons. And there’s not a doubt about Mr. Fillion’s love for sailing, or that Ms. Gordon, the librarian, likes to read. Ms. Oltman, a social studies teacher said that reading and boating both are among her favorite past times. If you’re incredibly active and up for a challenge, try keeping up with Mr. Moran, who teaches English and enjoys skiing and triatholons.

So if you are skiing in the Rockies, boating at the lake, or just reading at the local bookstore, do not be surprised if you look up and see one of Lincoln’s teachers sitting beside you.

Spirit is Not a "Kid Thang"

By Melissa Baker '00

Students weren't the only ones showing their school spirit during Homecoming Spirit Week as you can see. Our "conservative" teachers dressed up for another year of silly wear and wacky hair. Teachers who participated encouraged the students to dress up and just have tons of fun during spirit week.

In her polka-dot tie and silly beanie, Mrs. Briggman shows here junior class just how wacky she can be.

Freshmen class sponsor and swim aid, Mike Renaud, was ready and willing to show his spirit and get the kids involved. "I like to be noticed in a crowd," said Renaud, "and dressing up for spirit week again reminds me of how much fun I had when I was in high school."

Mr. Renaud is wacky from head to toe. He is definitely enjoying the chance to stand out in the school.

Spirit week is great for everyone. It's a rare time when teachers can just go wild 'n' crazy, showing us students just how much spirit they've got left in 'em.

From School to Work...

By Melissa Baker '00 and Staci Schubert '01

Regional Career Technical Center (RCTC) has been providing career and technical skills and training to the students of Lincoln High School as a chance to help youth succeed in today's job market.

RCTC helps students achieve career goals and gives them an edge in today's high-technology workplace.

Co-op is a class offered that allows the students to leave after a half day of classes to go to work.

Mrs. Frank teaches the class that meets twice a week, where students learn appropriate job skills, such as communication and socialization in the workplace.

Cadet Teaching is another course facilitated by Mrs. Frank, which offers students in elementary school a chance to work one-on-one with someone who will receive credit based on their help.

Band

By Greg Mazzari '00

Every Summer the Lincoln High School marching band spends about nine hours a day for a week to get prepared for the upcoming marching season. You think a week is long enough to get ready for marching season? Think again, the band practices every Wednesday night for two hours to get ready for Friday night's game.

"Band camp isn't easy. No matter how hot it is outside you still have to march around," said Emily Nichols '01. When marching season is over, pep band rolls around. The pep band performs at all of the home basketball games to pep up the crowd.

During concert season, both symphonic band and concert band competed in festival. Symphonic band received division one ratings and concert band received division two ratings, its highest ever.

Leon Bridgeman '03 performs a solo with his saxophone for the audience. Bridgeman had the crowd in awe at how well he played.

Drum major Nick Ingrao '02 leads the marching band down the parade route on their way to perform at the Homecoming game.

The pep band gets the crowd "pepped up" for the game. The pep band can really get the crowd into the game when it starts to play. You will always see the band in the bleachers wearing their blue and gray. Show their support for the school. The pep band is one of the many bands that Lincoln has to offer its band members. The school offers many programs, including Jazz Band.

Choir

By Kelly Stange '01 & Heather Ringrose '02

Beautiful voices, tough practice and a good director; these are just a few of the things that our choirs here at Lincoln have. You wouldn't really think that it would take that much practice, to have a great sounding choir, but it does.

We are lucky to have five very different choirs here at Lincoln. They include the Women's Chorus, Men of Lincoln, Concert Women, Concert Choir and the very talented, Split Dimensions.

Holiday concerts also take a lot of work to put together. Costumes and props, who does what - and most important... what to sing?!!

This year's Holiday Concert was held on December 14.

Other events included the annual choral festival and the fourth annual Michigan Vocal Arts Day at U of M. The eight students who sang at U of M received very high ratings.

"Old Saint Nick." Senior Scott Cook spreads joy and happiness for Christmastime at the 1999 Christmas choir concert. Children loved the sight of this well-known and well-loved character.

The Men Of Lincoln: John Anderson, Eniale Beachem, Richard Belisle, Eric Blake, Jamil Burns, Steven Fifield, Kevin Hamlin, Dante Herron, Vincent Kelley, Michael Puryear, Terrance Puryear, Evan Richardson, Bobby Rose, Lonnie Scott, Brian Spencer, Curtis Sykes, Marlon Thomas, William Tutor and Matthew Watson.

Juniors Tiffany Godsey, Elisha Brooks, Jessica Jackson and senior Heather Trammell share award-winning talent with the rest of the Split Dimensions choir.

Missy Landry '01 and Kelly Stange '01 attended the MIPA Conference in Lansing, on October 5, 1999, to learn the tricks of the trade in journalism.

Yearbook Adviser, Ms. Revord, accompanies junior Danaya Peterson on the yearbook computer. The advisor is there to help teach and help the staff. Many new techniques were mastered to make the book its best.

Yearbook

By Kelly Stange '01

Each fall, the yearbook arrives, recording the previous year's memories. But what really goes into putting the book together?

Putting a yearbook together in a year is nothing to take lightly. There is a lot of effort put into each caption you see. Every staff member has a lot riding on him/her. Meeting deadlines with error-free layouts can be a very time-consuming process. So who really puts this whole thing together?

The Faces Behind The Book

None other than the faces you see each day. That's right, our book is constructed by the very students who attend this school. Why would you give that job to anyone other than those getting involved in the activities?

This year's staff did their absolute best to make it more interesting. More stories, coverage, pictures and color were big goals. Many improvements were made to make this your best book ever.

"A Memory is what is left when something happens and does not completely unhappen."

Congratulations Heather Marie

*Although your life has Not been a bed of roses,
You've grown into a special young lady. With God's help, you have learned to accept
what you can not change, Change what you can and to stand up for what you believe in. You have made us all so very proud of you. You have many special angels watching over you and I'm sure they are also proud, especially your daddy. We've enjoyed your school years and are looking forward to your college years.
Wishing you continued success in all you do. We will always be there for you. We love you.*

*Love,

Brandon, and the rest of your family*

Bess,

Time passes much too quickly and letting go is the hardest thing we have ever had to do. You have become a beautiful young lady and we are certain you will succeed in all you do. We are very proud of you and love you more than words can say.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Caity & Randi

Toya,
Continue to follow your dreams
We Love you!

*Kristen-
How the years went by,
College bound and I won't cry.
How proud you have made me, You are the greatest daughter that could be.
My wish for you is happiness
in all you pursue,
And I know there is so much
you want to do.
Hugs and kisses from your brother,
Lots of love from your mother.*

From the first day we held you in our arms, to the day we walked you to school holding your hand, and today we stand beside you, as you walk on your own.

*Follow your dreams, wherever they may take you,
to find the success and happiness you so deserve.*

Congratulations Desi!

Brandon*

Hey Pal,

As time moves on we've watched you grow into a responsible young man. You have been all that we had hoped a son would be: fun, caring, living life with gusto! Your decisions have always been well-thought out and what's best for you.

As you graduate from high school, remember the secret to a rich life is to have more beginnings than endings! So as you begin this new phase of your life, we wish you the best and look forward to seeing where this journey takes you. And remember, you've always got a place to call home whenever you need it. As always,

*Much love,
Mom, Dad & Leslie*

Rachael

You have made us so proud. You have been such a blessing to us. Good luck in all you do. We will always be here for you.

All our love,
Mom, Dad & Todd

Bryan,

We are very proud of the man you have become. As you go forth into the future, remember to LIVE, LOVE and DREAM.

*I'd like to have a little girl who smiled at me through the day and who at every eventide, would toss a kiss my way.
I'd like to have a little girl with deep enchantment in her eyes, resembling hosts of sparkling stars in lambent moonlit skies.
I'd like to have a little girl who had a ribbon in her hair, and gingham gown of long ago, around the house would wear.
I'd like to have a little girl with soft, slender hands and arms,
and with a personality of heaven's springtime charms.
I'd like to have a little girl to have and call my very own,
just like my daughter who has now a lady grown.*

I love you Kitter! Love Mommy

My Daughter,

It seems like only yesterday that you were starting kindergarten. Now you have grown into a beautiful young woman about to graduate in the class of 2000. You will then start your journey as an MP in the army.

No mother could be more proud of their daughter than I am of you. Thank you for being a great daughter. Always believe in yourself, as I have always believed in you. I know you will go far in life's journey. May God bless you and keep you safe. Stay true to your beliefs and your heart. Love,

Mom & Rob

Congratulations Aaron!

We're Proud of You.
We wish you all the best that

Dear Candice,

Congratulations on this very special day.
You made it! You continue to make us proud to be blessed with a wonderful daughter.

Ahead are the most important years that will require focus, determination and, most of all, belief in yourself! You have proven that you can do anything if you put your mind to it.

May God continue to bless you and keep you safe through life's journeys.

Colophon

The 550 copies of the fall-delivered 2000 Liberator were printed by Jostens Publishing Company in Clarksville, TN. The 7 3/4 by 10 1/2 book was printed on 80 lb. gloss paper. The cover incorporates a silver foil 381 design embossed on meteor 503 with white 325 and blue 347 lettering. Endsheets are printed on snow white 280 using black 395 and metallic silver 877. The theme "One FOOT in Front of the Other" was conceived and developed at the 1999 Jostens Workshop in Adrian, MI. by Ms. Revord, Amber Amrhein, Melissa Baker and Staci Schubert.

The 172 page 2000 Liberator, Vol. 47, used souvenir as its primary typeface, printing body copy in 10 pt, captions and folio text in 8pt. and student names in 6 pt. Headlines are in various fonts and sizes. The sports section uses Helvetica and Pepita, academics uses Barmeno Extra Bold, Caflisch Script Regular and Giddyup and student life uses Poetica Chanceryl and Barmeno Extra Bold. One computer using '95 Windows and Pagemaker as the Yeartech operating system put together the entire book.

Senior portraits, team pictures, graduation ceremonies and sports candids were taken by Focal Point Studios (Farmington and Canton). Underclassmen and staff photos were taken by Perfect Images (Rochester).

Books pre-sold for $35.00 in September and regularly sold for $40.00 plus tax through Jostens Complete mailers.

The staff would like to personally thank the following: Cathy and Sue at Focal Point, Ms. Lauri Price, Ms. Marsha Frank, Mr. Greg Morrison of Herff-Jones, Greg Wier, Race Lamkin, Kenny Williams, Candace Reynolds and Kevin Brunell.
