CLASS HISTORY

Just look at the little gold nuggets that started school in 1936--the Senior Class of '49! It has been a century since the gold rush, but when the class of '49 entered school, it was evident that not all the gold had been discovered. Wasn't it generous that there was some left for us? We have found golden knowledge--not only readin', writin', and 'rithmetic; but the arts, the sciences, and the experience through actually doing things.

Looking back on our childhood memories, we see nine out of thirty-three little nuggets coming to school for the first time that September morning in 1936. In those days we came a WHOLE day! During our elementary years we were divided into two classes, and therefore we really didn't get to know those in the other group too well. While we were still in grade school, we found twelve more gold nuggets to add to our collection.

In the seventh grade we were divided into two home rooms. We went to different parts of the building for our classes and didn't have to walk in lines to get there either! What a change!

We all looked forward to our initiation, for we had heard that such AWFUL things were done! We looked and looked and looked, but there was still no initiation. Something must have happened! Our class was recognized in time, however, but in a very different way. At the honors assembly the seventh graders were asked to stand. Did we ever feel proud!

The year that we were in the eighth grade, the junior high school had charge of the Christmas program. The play, "Why the Chimes Rang", was given, and a number from our class proved to be up and coming young actors. Since we were not initiated, we felt SORRY for the class below us. THEY DIDN'T GET BY!

We had been looking forward to the ninth grade, because then we could attend Fun Nights and could have our first night party. This turned out to be the last year of Fun Nights, and were we glad to get in on them! Our night party was a big success, and we felt quite pleased with ourselves. In the spring we had a swell picnic on the school grounds. Besides these activities, everyone must have liked to study, because there were more from students from our class on the honor roll than any other.

The tenth grade was significant, for we were merged into one homeroom where we could really work together as a class. At last we got to know our classmates as we should. Our officers for the year were Lelanel Gorton, president; Robert Gotta, vice president; Maria Day, secretary; and Patricia Johnson, treasurer. Marvel Sweet was the student council secretary.

After three years we finally were initiated. Did you ever see a whole group of girls come to school wearing their clothes wrong side out, their hair in curlers, and no makeup on--or boys with their pant legs rolled up and wearing the girls' makeup? That night we came to our reception expecting anything, even electric shocks. It was worth it!

To usher in the basketball season, our class had a delicious pot luck dinner and attended the first game afterwards.

In the spring we sponsored the sophomore dance, the Bubble Ball. What a beautiful sight to see the girls in their formals and the couples floating around under exquisite bunches of balloons to the mellow music of Phil Savage and his orchestra.

We had our class picnic at River Rouge Park. Although it rained most of the day, the clouds ceased to weep just in time for us. You should have seen those who tried to ride bicycles in the muddy paths of the park!

Our junior class officers were Winton Hansen, president; and Veronica Yelinek, treasurer; Marvel Sweet, vice president; Janet Delcher, secretary. Robert Gotta was vice president of the student council.

It was our turn to initiate the dear sophomores, so we really revolutionized the process and kept everything under control with seltzer-water!

This was also the year that the student council launched their first magazine drive. Who came out with flying colors? We did, of course! After all our effort we were rewarded with a scrumptious Victory Banquet.

At last it was our turn to give the junior plays. As we wanted something different from the usual selections, we gave a melodrama, a musical farce, and a modern comedy. These selections provided enough parts to enable everyone to be in them. There was so much mud that we had mud vacation the week of our plays; therefore we got the chance not only to have play practice at night, but also in the afternoon. Some participants had to walk a mile or more to get there. We pay tribute to them, and to those who had to walk to see our plays. In spite of the weather, there were good crowds; and from all reports, many liked our productions. Ever since this time unusual circumstances seem to pop up. We must be jinxed!

We went to Cass-Benton Park for our picnic. It was a beautiful day, and everyone had such a good time! There was plenty for each one to eat, and everybody was just stuffed afterwards! You should have seen the frosting on the cake--an inch thick!

Our theme for the Junior-Senior Banquet was Heaven. This was carried out in the decorations, the menu, and the program. You would have loved to have eaten some of that heavenly manna! Mr. Carl York Smith, a M.S.N.C. student teacher and minister, delivered the main address.

Near the end of the year the student council held its election of officers. Robert Gotta was chosen as president and Lelanel Gorton as treasurer. Soon after school was out, the council officers had the opportunity of attending the convention of the National Association of Student Councils in Washington, D.C. Robert Allan went in Robert Gotta's place.

At last our senior year came. We soon became acquainted with the advantages and privileges acquired, which we certainly have enjoyed. To lead the class in this important year we chose Robert Allan as president, Norman Huff as vice president, Libby Kirk as secretary, and Gladys Wright as treasurer. Lelanel Gorton was chosen as the D.A.R. pilgrim.

Our first big project of the year was our senior plays. Again a good selection was given; and thanks to the weather, we had better crowds.

The senior English class had the opportunity to go to Detroit to see the movie version of Hamlet. Given a brief preview before we went, we really appreciated and enjoyed the picture.

The government classes planned twice to visit the Circuit Court in Ann Arbor, but each time the defendant pleaded guilty before the trial. Then it was arranged to go to Recorder's Court in Detroit, but no, the weather had to have it out. Although we never did get there, we appreciate all the effort that was put into the attempts.

CLASS PROPHECY

RICHARD ACKERMAN: Richard is now a professional ice-man. His favorite territory is Willow Run. Dick also runs his own "ice" school for promising young men--he trains them to deliver ice in a well-mannered way.

ROBERT ALLAN: Doctor Bob Allan is now a general practitioner. He practices in the Lincoln Area. His favorite pastime is the same as in high school--tormenting cats and sparrows. Bob soothes his patients with his impersonations of none other than Frankie Laine.

DONNA BEREAN: As wife of a young minister, Donna operates a pet shop. She specializes in parakeets.

NORMAN HUFF: A very successful young minister, he is located in New Mexico. He and Donna are very happy with their little blessings, four in number.

LYNN BREIGHT: As a famous state forester, Skip is known as the "Lone Ranger", due to the fact that his "ever lovin' baby" left him. She couldn't keep the white sweaters clean.

EARL CHRISTENSEN: Earl is now manager of an A. & P. store. All employees of his store are distinguished by black and white checkered shirts. Earl is the founder of the A. & P. Quartets.

JANET DELCHER: Janet owns a big ranch in Texas. She is busy taming wild horses for rodeos. Janet feels that wild horses put on a better show. She is still noted for her fiery temper.

MARYAN DIBBLE: Maryan is one of those secretaries who landed her boss for a husband, with the help of her flirtatious eyes. Maryan still works as secretary for her husband, who manages a chain of Laundrettes. She lives in a large fifteen-room modernistic home.

DORIS ELLIOTT: As wife of the president of the Employees Association of the Ipsilanti State Hospital, Doris is very happy with her seven little girls and one little boy.

DALE SHUKAIT: As president of the Employees Association of the Ipsilanti State Hospital, Dale doesn't have much time for play. However, he and his wife, Doris, still enjoy their square dancing.

WAYNE FOUTCH: Wayne is still pouring lead at the Ipsilanti Daily Press. Wayne's little tax-payers are growing fast and are planning on paying off the national debt any day.

JOE FOX: Joe married a very rich debutante and is running for governor of New York on the Prohibition ticket. He drives a fire-engine red Cadillac but makes his wife drive a green one so as to eliminate confusion.

SUE FOX: Suzie is married and is very happy. She has two beautiful children with curly blond hair and big blue eyes. For pin money, Sue endorses Blondex Shampoo Ads. She has a beautiful home on Lake Erie.

JOAN GAULT: As wife of a handsome West Point graduate, Joan finds life on her Virginia plantation home extremely exciting. Joan's thoroughbred race horse, Satin's Pride, already having won the Kentucky Derby, is now on his way to the Steeplechase in England.

LELANEL GORTON: Headstrong Miss Gorton has gone far in ten years with her voice. Always a girl with great determination, she plans to continue her career, since it is her whole life.

ROBERT GOTTS: Robert is one of the fortunate few who benefited from our demonstration talks in twelfth grade English. Bob now gives lectures and paints while he talks.

SHIRLEY SMITH: As Mrs. Gotts, Shirley has finally settled down. She has a part time job working in a Chemistry laboratory. Shirley and Bob have two lovely children. For relaxation, Shirley plays tennis.

GAROL JARVIS: Mr. and Mrs. Kanitz own and operate a fashionable riding stable in the Irish Hills. Garol and Bob are the proud parents of two sets of twins. They have their own private airplane.

PAT JOHNSON: Pat is married to an alumnus of The Class of '46. Stanley, Jr., and Pat, Jr. attend the Lincoln Grade School. As a pastime, Pat and her husband are busy raising Afghan hounds.

LIBBY KIRK: Mr. and Mrs. Westfall and family are happily situated in Arizona. Libby fills satin pillows with cacti needles and sends them to her pals.

ELDON LAMKIN: Eldon is still running around with the women. He flies a flashy blue helicopter, which aids him in flitting from one girl to another. Eldon owns a helicopter filling station with refrigerators in front and repairs in back.

GEORGE MAGDA: After taking a very successful Atlas Course, George now has his own studio. He also has a studio at home, where he puts his wife and children through their paces.

ERNEST MESTELLER: Ern is a very successful farmer, and now, at the age of twenty eight, he has renounced his bachelorhood and is looking for a wife.

GINA META: Gina runs a very successful beauty parlor in Detroit. However, we find Gina's four little girls as fortunate as their mother. They, too, have naturally curly black hair.

MERLYN MINNICK: Handsome, big-league baseball player Minnick is all the time thrilling the girls. Between training and season, Merlyn tours the country with his dance band.

ALEX NEMETH: Big time manufacturer of "grape juice," Alex drives a sleek black Buick, and lives in a big Southern-type house. Alex has one beautiful little girl.

NEAL SANDERS: Neal is now manager of the Wright farms. Neal plays pool on the side, and we hear that he has a chance of becoming district champion.

MARVEL SWEET: Since oil was struck on Marvel's mother's farm, Marvel and her husband, Willy T. have been taking life easy. They go South to Kentucky every winter, and they have a beautiful home in a fashionable suburb of Detroit. Marvel and Willy have two children.

LISLE TORREY: Lisle planned on going to college for two years, and during that time she threw over many men. Finally, she settled for a tall, dark, and handsome doctor. As far as Lisle's children are concerned, she has reached her half-way mark. She has three boys.

ALEX WASKUL: After graduation, Alex went to Texas, worked for awhile, and then bought a ranch. While out riding one day, Alex came upon one of his neighbors, an old classmate, Jane Delcher. That was five years ago. Since then we haven't heard from Alex.

We, ourselves, also held a court trial. Richard Ackerman was charged with assault and battery and was found guilty after most interesting evidence was brought forth.

One day all the boys came to school in their suits, and the girls seemed a little more fidgety than usual. You guessed it! Our senior pictures were being taken.

Being seniors had some other advantages too. We were privileged to go on more trips for instance, our class picnic, the day trip, and our senior cruise to Mackinaw Island. Also we could sit back and be entertained by the juniors at the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Last but not least in our school life there are Baccalaureate and Graduation. These are extra-special at the particular time, for this is the twenty-fifth year of Lincoln School.

We are proud of the school and what it stands for, and we will never forget what it has done for each one of us.
